He was a worthy Man, a skilfull Physician, an impartial Magistrate, and an Amiable Friend. His mind was Generous, his Temper Sweet, his Understanding Extensive; in Nature Compassionate, in Virtue Severe, He adorn'd the Reasoning Being with the Dignity of Morality, the True Christian with the Sanctity of Religion. He was a Delight to his Acquaintances, an Honour to his Profession, and a Happiness to his Country. Dear and Desirable is the Memory of Doctor Archer, Cruel and Lamentable is the Loss of him. Every Eye Overflows with Tears, every Breast is fill'd with Sorrow, and every House is become the House of Mourning.

* Mr. Bellasis visited Kendal, 2nd August, 1875, 9th, 10th, and 11th August, 1876, and at other times, and finally in November, 1888. The help afforded by Mr. T. Jennings, local antiquary, in adding to the inscriptions and in noting positions and corrections has been of a most valuable kind. Mr. G. Rushforth parish clerk, has likewise assisted herein, and also placed every facility at the disposal of Mr. Bellasis in the course of the carrying through of this, the most extensive and important section of the "Notes." Mr. T. Wilson, and Mr. R. J. Whitwell have also given aid and encouragement in this heavy work first taken in hand so long ago. Many stones with inscriptions were (Mr. Bellasis is informed) buried some time since, following upon a call to owners (partially responded to) to help in the task of putting the churchyard in order.

Though left to deplore the loss Of an affectionate Husband At an age in which time Had scarcely diminished Th' attractions of her person She prefer'd The melancholy pleasure Of bearing his name To every solicitation Which press'd her to a second Union. Those pledges of their love Who lost in infancy A Father's care, When reason began to dawn Beheld in his faithful Relict A Parent Entitled to redoubled affection. A display of her amiable qualities From one Whom Nature had taught to love And mature reflexion to venerate her Might be Suspected Of fond exaggeration. To prevent This injustice to her memory He is silent with respect to her Virtues; And only testifies His sorrows For the loss of so excellent a Mother By his wish That her example May every day become less rare. She d. 7th of april 1789 In the 53d y. of her age. Requiescat in pace. (Mr. Jennings' copy 1861. bur. 1789 Ap. 21 Isabella C. of Stramongate, papist.)

* Mr. Ernest Radclyffe Crump, of Odd Rode, Cheshire, accompanied Mr. Bellasis on his visit to Kirkby Lonsdale in Dec. 1888. Two days were spent by them over the inscriptions, and every facility and a kindly reception were given to them by the Rev. Mr. Cree, (the curate in charge) during their stay in one of the most interesting and beautiful localities to be found in the north of England. Mr. T. Jennings of Kendal has again rendered important service to the annotators by way of revision. There are various inscriptions entirely or nearly illegible, notably one on the west wall of the church outside, in which the only very clear word remaining is "Judith."
